The trolley problem is a specific ethical thought experiment among several that highlights the difference between deontological and consequentialist ethical systems. The central question that these dilemmas bring to light is on whether or not it is right to actively inhibit the utility of an individual if doing so produces a greater utility for other individuals.

All forms of ineffective treatment, "alternative" or otherwise, pose real dilemmas that are usually neglected. I use here the term "alternative medicine", rather than CAM (complementary and alternative medicine), because things that don't work are not medicine at all and can't be "complementary" to anything.
